Is One of Most Important Victories of War—Working Toward German Naval Bases.

[By Associated Press.]
British front in Belgium, Oct. 5.—British army today achieved one of the greatest victories of the war in a tremendous assault against German positions on the Ypres. When the whole story of this battle has been told it may take its place as an unequalled triumph of three years of conflict, for each successive report adds to the importance of the success.
From the point of the Ypres-Baden railroad on the north to the Ypres-Menin highway on the south, the British have swept forward with a force which at some places carried them to a depth of 2,500 yards over German positions in the Passendale-Ghelghele ridge system.
Not only have the British wrenched away many vital strongholds, but they have inflicted almost unprecedented casualties on the enemy.

[By International News.]
London, Oct. 5.—After months of bloody fighting in Belgium the British today dominated the greater part of the famous Passendale ridge smashing the German grip in an engagement that culminated yesterday in one of the most important victories of the war.

Determined efforts were made by the Germans to wrest from the British some of the ground so brilliantly won along the front line. A terrific battle raged for hours, but the British front around Ypres but all failed. Heavy fighting was in progress between Langemark and Chévalerie the greater part of the night.

The number of German prisoners in the hands of the British is now estimated at about four thousand. Much booty was captured also. A few hours later the British established themselves upon the strategic Passendale ridge. The big guns began to roar, hurling a terrific barrage fire on the German counter attacks.

In the meantime the British soldiers—Englishmen, Welshmen, Irishmen, Scotchmen and Australians—all jumbled together—set to work with grim fury to consolidate the new positions before the Germans could get their counter assaults under way.

The German trenches were found to be blasted out of all semblance of defensive works by the British shell fire and most of the dugouts were wrecked.

Mowed Down in Waves.
Soon the Germans came plunging through the British fire against the positions that 24 hours earlier had been their own, but were met by a sheet of machine gun and rifle fire that sent them reeling back.

Tanks and Aeroplanes.
Tanks and aeroplanes played a big part in the attack. The tanks, numbering about 100, were equipped with machine guns and machine gun turrets at the rate of 100 a minute, the sky above the German trenches was black with aeroplanes that hurled down bombs, and dropped their machine guns against the German lines.

Menace Whole Line.
By their stroke on the ridge, the British menaced the whole German front in the West Flanders front from the North sea to the French frontier, a distance of 40 miles.

Take Six Villages.
The villages of Beveland, Noordenhoek, Polderhoek, Molendin Noordhoek, Broedseinde and Gravenstafel were captured as was the greater part of Poelcapelle.

By the capture of Broedseinde the British established the ridge five miles over the German line. From here they can bombard the Roulers-Menin railroad, the principal German line of communication in the Ypres sector.

In addition to the loss of positions of great importance the Germans sustained very heavy casualties. More than 3,000 prisoners were taken, the heavy guns being wounded. The German losses were so severe that since Rupprecht attempted only a few counter attacks. These were easily broken up.

Under Heavy Fire.
The course of events during the night gave further evidence of the shock given the Germans. Yesterday they kept up a heavy artillery fire during the night but did not counter-attack. Meanwhile the British were consolidating their new positions.

The French had to cope with several surprise attacks by the Germans last night in the Champagne and upper Alsace. The German effort, however, met with no success.

Under Heavy Fire.
London, Oct. 5.—The Germans have undertaken no further counter-attacks against positions east of Ypres, gained by the British in yesterday's offensive, although they kept them under heavy fire during the night. The British are consolidating their new positions.

A rain storm endeavored to enter the trenches last night near Gouzeau Court, but was driven off.

French Statement.
Paris, Oct. 5.—The official statement from the war office today reads: The enemy attempted, without success, surprise attacks during the night, especially in the Champagne, east of Butte Souin and in upper Alsace.

Our soldiers and sailors must be fed, clothed and armed. The country asks no gift.

THOUSANDS ATTEND COMBINED OPENING HELD LAST EVENING

Many People Spent the Evening in the Down Town District Looking at the Display Windows.

Thousands of dollars' worth of the latest and newest fall merchandise was placed on display in the windows of the many merchants of the city combined for the Grand Fall Opening, last evening to be viewed by the people not only from Janesville, but by hundreds from the surrounding communities. Selections of all kinds of merchandise and of all qualities were offered for the approval of the purchasing public who eagerly took advantage of the opportunity to examine the goods when they were first placed on display.

From seven-thirty until nine-thirty Milwaukee and Main streets were crowded with the masses of people who made a careful examination of the merchandise on display in the various windows. The Bower City band of forty pieces was present and furnished music throughout the evening for the benefit of the public. The parade was made in front of the establishments which had entered their resources of merchandise to make the opening a great success.

The total number of people who viewed the windows during the evening cannot be estimated due to the continual flow of men, women and children who were on the streets at different times. Some for less than an hour while others spent most of the evening studying the goods which were on display. It can easily be stated, however, that the tumbling throngs of people, though Janesville people were in the majority, but the surrounding sections were well represented. Invitations on the part of the merchants had been sent to people of the surrounding country to visit Janesville to see the fall offerings which the Janesville merchants have at their disposal to sell to their patrons.

Eighteen stores combined in the movement to make it a success from every point of view. Practically every article which the housewife, the husband or the children desired for all the household needs, from suits for men, women and children, hats, footwear, furniture, millinery, new frocks and gowns in addition to many other articles of merchandise composed the list of needed things. These were shown in the various windows.

During the display the lights of the streets in front of the business establishments were dimmed so as to give the windows a decided effect which tended to show off the merchandise in a more effective manner to the inquisitive public. The windows were unveiled at seven-thirty.

The merchants who combined in the grand combined fall opening were: J. M. Bostwick & Sons, T. P. Burns Company, T. J. Ziegler Cloth- ing Co., Max Meisel & Co., W. H. Aschcraft, The Golden Eagle, Simpson Garment Company, D. J. Luby & Co., J. L. Ford & Son, H. McNamara, Frank D. Krambe, Carl W. Diehl, J. H. Rabe, Amos Rehberg Co., R. M. Bostwick & Son, Chas. S. FACTORIES ORGANIZE FOR BOND CAMPAIGN

Superintendents of All Janesville Concerns to Aid in Work of Selling Bonds.
More important than anything on which they have ever embarked, was the Janesville Liberty Loan campaign by Malcolm G. Jeffris before a meeting of Janesville manufacturers and their superintendents at the Commercial club last night. The meeting was called by the factory committee under Roy Wisner, to arrange details of the campaign as it is to be conducted in the factories and shops of the city. A discussion of various methods it was agreed that the superintendents would be best fitted to organize the work in their own establishments. They were consequently made members of the committee and promised the aid of the entire loan organization.
It is probable that details of the drive will be arranged differently in the various factories to adjust themselves most satisfactorily to the particular conditions of the factory. Many asked for speakers, which will be taken up by the speakers' committee, and it is likely that members of the factory committee will come in at these times to aid in soliciting purchases of bonds.

WILL TAKE ACTION ON LA FOLLETTE

SENATE COMMITTEE ON PRIVILEGES AND ELECTIONS POINT MEMBERS TO INVESTIGATE COMPLAINT.

REPORT IN DECEMBER

Stone and Others Named Are White-washed as Charges Are Declared. Not of Sufficient Grounds to Proceed.

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, Oct. 5.—A final preliminary inquiry into the alleged disclosure of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin made before the non-partisan issue in St. Paul, Minnesota, a fortnight ago was ordered today by the senate of privileges and elections committee. An appointment of a subcommittee of five members was directed with authority limited first to inquiry into the correctness of Senator La Follette's speech, and second into the correctness of his statement made in the senate.

The limited scope of the inquiry was regarded as temporary action on the numerous petitions presented to the senate for the Wisconsin senator's expulsion. The subcommittee, which probably will be appointed during the day and will be headed by Senator Pomerene was ordered to report at the December session of congress.

Stone Case.
The senate committee took up petition charging Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the senate foreign committee, with disclosure of state secrets and decided that the charges made did not warrant any investigation of the Missouri senator.

Two-Hour Session.
The senate committee's decision was reached after a two-hour session and with a speech in the senate by Senator La Follette impeding the subcommittee was authorized to request authority to employ stenographers and make other necessary expenditures indicating that formal hearings were to be held with possible examinations of witnesses at St. Paul.

Before Senate.
The resolution for authority to make the subcommittee's inquiry and its general authority was scheduled to be brought before the senate today to take up the matter. The basis of the proposed speech in connection with the proposed speech of Senator La Follette replying to the charges of his critics.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The flying squadmen of Chicago today telegraphed to a thousand Liberty bond salesmen across a resolution demanding the immediate expulsion of Senator La Follette.

The subcommittee expected to hold a preliminary meeting late today and begin its inquiry next week. The general expectation was that public hearings would be held at which Senator La Follette would be given an opportunity to be heard. Senator Pomerene made the claim that the subcommittee's authority is limited solely to the St. Paul speech and does not extend to any other actions or charges against the Wisconsin senator.

Senator La Follette's proposed speech, which probably will be delivered in the Wisconsin senate, is expected to be the focal point of the resolution for the adjournment of congress at 3:00 p. m. Saturday. This was done to insure an opportunity for a reply on the floor to the speech of the senator's address. Should he speak up to the moment of adjournment, in which case leaders planned to postpone adjournment for the time needed for replies.

Senator Kollong of Minnesota, who presented the first petition for Senator La Follette's expulsion, planned to reply to Senator La Follette, and others were contemplating speeches. A few more petitions demanding Mr. La Follette's expulsion were presented to the senate today.

La Follette Issue in State.
[By International Press.]
Milwaukee, Oct. 5.—The La Follette issue will be the center of the biggest political fight in the history of the state. No matter what the outcome of the present demand for the expulsion of the Wisconsin senator by the United States senate may be, the Wisconsin Loyalty Legion will continue its fight against him. At every meeting held under the auspices of the legion or any of its branches in various parts of the state, resolutions will be offered demanding his resignation and it is planned to hurl such an avalanche of these resolutions and petitions at him that he will at last have to answer them. La Follette's friends contend that he has been misrepresented and misquoted in the press and that he will move every issue. The Loyalty Legion, however, proposes to make La Follette the issue for every candidate in the next state election.

ORGANIZE SCHOOL COMPANY NEXT WEEK

Eighty Students Have Signified Their Intentions of Joining Voluntary Military Company.

Formation of the voluntary high school military company will take place next week if the present plans of those in charge of the movement are carried through. The blanks now show that over eighty students have expressed their desire to become members of the organization. This number is expected to reach the one hundred mark before the organization is made.

Plans are being formulated for the meeting of the students on next Tuesday evening to discuss the plans of the company and to outline the work which will be taken up. It was originally planned to hold the meeting at the armory of the Sixteenth Separate company, Wisconsin State Guard but this will be impossible due to the being in use on Tuesday evening, the date set for the meeting. Efforts are now being made to hold the meeting in the high school gymnasium.

Before the practically launched the high school authorities plan to make a thorough study of the conditions and to organize the company on a substantial basis. Information relative to the organization of similar companies at high schools has been sent for to estimate the success and value of the movement to the students.

The company will be formed and drilled under the direction of drill-masters from the local State Guard company with the aid and supervision of a representative of the high school faculty. A number of members of the guard have signified their intention of being willing to aid in the instruction of the boys and to give their services to the best interests of the organization.

With the enrollment of one hundred in the company some good work along military lines can be accomplished.
As soon as members of the company under the supervision of the high school faculty will be appointed or be given officers' positions on a purely competitive basis. Along with the drill work which will be taken up training in other lines of military service will be given such as is found in the training camps of the country.

The first drive made by the committee of twenty girls of the high school from their efforts to sell season tickets for all athletic contests has been a success according to the tentative totals now available. Reports show that nearly three hundred of the tickets have been sold to students in the high school. These tickets admit the bearer to all athletic contests during the school year and are sold for one dollar.

The total price of admission to the contests if the charge was made at each contest would total well over three dollars, thus affording a saving for those who buy the tickets. The meeting held on Tuesday morning at which the students of the high school met to discuss the organization of the company was a success. The question of dancing at this reception will be considered at the meeting of the board of education.

and the occasion was a most enjoyable and helpful one for the faculty.
The students, the mothers and the handmaids at three o'clock the committee on arrangements, consisting of Bill Jacobson, Florita Luce, Orelia West, Iva Halliburton and Florence Conway, served coffee and refreshments, ice cream and cake.

This is the second social event of this particular kind and it is planned to make the occasion an annual affair for the purpose of greater co-operation and progress.

Superintendent Antisdel and his two supervising teachers, Harriet Bill and Blanche Rieck, held a conference at the training school this week with the members of the faculty.
Matters pertaining to the supervision of the rural schools of Rock county were taken up and a most successful and profitable one for those who are concerned in the supervision of the country schools. Another meeting of this kind will be held on January fourth.

Rally a Success.

The educational enthusiasm rally last Saturday was the best and most successful one held during the past five years, and that is saying a good deal for all of the meetings have been successful.

Of about sixty teaching in country schools, over fifty were in attendance at this meeting. As the total attendance was about one hundred, nearly one-half of the teachers present were graduates of the training school.

This speaks well for the co-operative spirit of the young women who have received special training for their work.

Seniors Elect Officers.

The seniors held a class meeting on Tuesday and elected the following officers for the year 1917-18:

President, Stuvengen; Vice President,
Bertha Lison; Secretary, Jessie Mc-Gregor; Treasurer, Gladys Dunn; Editor, Clinton.

Blind Institute.

A number of the training school students under the direction of Miss Luce, recently visited the blind institute, where the work in the various departments was witnessed. The music, both the chorus singing and the orchestra practice, was greatly enjoyed by the young women.

Many Demonstrations.

The work in domestic science will be presented in the training school from November first to February first, and on the following dates the teacher, Miss B. E. Palmer of Broadway, will give demonstrations and talks in fifteen country schools: Monday, Nov. 5th; Friday, Nov. 9th; Friday, Nov. 16th; Friday, Nov. 23rd;
Friday, Dec. 7th; Friday, Dec. 14th;
Thursday, Dec. 20th; Friday, Jan. 4th;
Friday, Jan. 11th; Friday, Jan. 18th;
Friday, Jan. 25th; Tuesday, Jan. 29th;
Wednesday, Jan. 30th; Thursday, Jan. 31st; Friday, Feb. 1st.

Knitting For Soldiers.

Nearly all of the young women in the training school under the direction and supervision of Miss Jacobson are now knitting wristlets and scarfs for our soldier boys. The work is done under the auspices of the Red Cross, and the yarn is furnished to the students by Mrs. A. C.
Lough who represents the Red Cross organization. A great deal of interest is being manifested in this work and the plan is to continue it for some time to come. The Training School is anxious to do all in its power in demonstrating a practical patriotism.

Help Them Through School.

The principal of the Training School has had several applications from people who desire students to work for their board. If any person who reads these notes knows of a young woman or she can do the work a distinct favor by telling her of an opportunity to get a professional training for a very small sum of money. These times of the high school living on who help a deserving young woman is certainly performing a patriotic duty.

Rural Teachers To Confer.

On Saturday December 8th Superintendent Antisdel will conduct the first conference for rural teachers at meetings will be held this year.

To Work At Ladysmith.

of the Domestic Science work during the second quarter will also do work of a similar character at Ladysmith and Merrill during the third and fourth quarters.

Making Collections.

Members of the Nature Study and Agriculture Class have been making collections of mounted weeds and leaves, seed corn and potatoes, grass and hoppers, cutworms, etc., and other natural material. The work in these subjects is being presented in an increasingly practical form.

Enrollment Favorable.

The enrollment in this Training School this year compares very favorably with the enrollment in many other professional schools. The Whitewater Normal has never over-ago, the State University one thousand less, and in the Stout Training School the falling off has been so great that several courses have been discontinued.

Model School.

The women in the model training department are going forward with great deal of success, this year under the direction of the new teacher, Miss Belle Thompson.

Go to South Dakota.

Margaret will accompany her parents to their new home in South Dakota.
Miss Ireland will give up her work in District No. 2, town of Newark and the term will be completed by Wm. F. Ireland has been the pastor of the Congregational Church in Clinton for four years.

Visit Teachers.

The following members of the class of 1917 have been visited in their country schools recently: Elizabeth Barrett, Frances Condon, Gertrude
Condon, Alma Vinters, Edith Rote, Clara Sorenson, Ruth Salverson, Helen Cunningham, Nellie Logan and Margaret Ireland.

Complete Normal Work.

The following graduates of the training school are now graduates of the Whitewater Normal school:
Corrine Crandall, Milton Junction;
Marie Dobson, Janesville; Emma Fussberg, Edgerton; Nora McCarthy, Edgerton.

THURSDAY'S MARKETS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Choice grades sold 5c higher yesterday, while common to fair packers closed mostly 10¢ to 15¢ lower. A drove of fancy butchers cost 20c more than a week ago at $19.55, while a drove of 240-lb.
packers showed 15c decline, costing $18.50, against $18.65 a week ago.

Packers are discriminating against undesirable mixed and common heavyweight hogs and it is expected the spread in prices will widen considerably in the near future. A break in the so-called "packing grades" is due at this season of the year.

Lambs met with a good call, again yesterday and natives outold westerns 10c, some bring $18.60. Thursday of last week westerns sold at $18, while the top for natives was only $17.35.

Average price of hogs at Chicago was $18.90, against $18.95 Wednesday, $19.05 a week ago, $9.40 a year ago and $8.12 two years ago.

Cattle Prices Steady.

Cattle changed little yesterday, but quality was poor and the medium grades were dull from start to finish.
Western range offerings were 15c lower, the cows and heifers showing the weakness. Calves were active at strong rates, and several bunches cleared at $16. Stockers and feeders were steady. Quotations:
Choice to fancy steers, $16.50@17.60

Poor to good steers 7.25@16.25
Yearlings, fair to fancy 11.75@17.65
Fat cows and heifers 6.60@12.75 Canning cows and cows 5.15@6.50
Native bulls and stags 6.00@10.25
Feeding cattle, 600@1.100
Poor to fancy veal calves 10.00@16.00
Western range steers 7.25@16.00

Hogs Weakest Late.

Hogs averaged a shade higher early yesterday, but the market weakened off and late sales, barring choice kinds, were mainly 10c lower.
Quality poor and price range wide with clearance only fair. Hogs were indifferently bought because of increased receipts and prices were 50¢ under last week's close. Quotations:

Bulk of sales 18.45@19.90
Heavy butchers and ship 19.30@19.60
Light butchers, 190@280 19.25@19.60

WE are joining with the progressive merchants from coast to coast who are this week making a special display of Styleplus suits and overcoats.

For three years the makers have maintained Styleplus at $17 in the face of war conditions. They bought in advance, operated on an increasingly larger scale, and thus kept costs down.

When the United States entered the war the fabric market underwent violent changes. To meet these new conditions a $21 grade was added, thus insuring you an even wider selection in fabrics and models.

A SUGGESTION.

There is no idea to attempt to dictate to the members of the Rock county board of supervisors in the following paragraphs nor any thought of criticism. It is merely in the line of a suggestion. Perhaps some of the reasons why this article is written may not have appealed to the majority of the members of the board who have the handling of the county affairs in their hands.

With no idea of flattering the board, still it is a fact that the best men from every township and voting precinct in the county, are selected as members. When you line up the actives of our own board with those of other counties you see that politics play a mighty small part and good, hard-headed common sense a great deal. Their decisions are not influenced by glittering generalities, but by solid facts.

At the next meeting of the county board there is to be decided the question of selecting a new supervisor of the Rock county poor farm and lunatic hospital. The present incumbent, Cassius Whipple, has tendered his resignation months back, and it is up to the board to re-engage him or select some other good man for the place. There is an old adage, "Never swap horses in the middle of the stream." This might apply here. The average citizen of Rock county knows what kind of a sheriff Cassius Whipple made. A goodly number of us know what kind of a manager of the county institution where our unfortunates are harbored, he has made. The majority would be glad to see him retained at an increased salary. Both he and his wife have proven efficient public servants and there has never been any question as to their efficiency. Other counties pay more than Rock county does for such service. Why not Rock county?

If takes a man not conversant with the work of such an institution, months, years, and years, to become acquainted with its ins and outs. Whipple went there with the experience of years in police duty and two years as sheriff behind him. He has given the county the best that was in him and if the county board can see fit to offer him an advance in salary, they may be able to retain him. As a question of dollars and cents, lay all politics aside, put personal preference in the discard, and think the matter over quietly and solemnly, and see if it is not right. Any man selected now would be an inexperienced Whipple has experience, he knows the ways of saving and in this period when costs run into dollars faster than a cow can kick out a bucket of milk, it is worth considering.

Whether the board decides to retain Mr. Whipple and his wife or not, the Gazette feels they have been true and faithful servants and that their retention would be for the best interests of the county even if it did cost a few hundred dollars a year more. Think it over in this light, you members of the county board. Weigh it up, one side and the other, and then make your decision.

BE NO SLACKER.

There is a term that came into use this year of our Lord that will bid fair to remain "Slacker"—that means much. There are slackers in all sorts of conditions of life, men who hold back who should be in the vanguard and leading the hosts. Men who avoid responsibility—let someone else do it—and still gain public confidence. Men who seek release from the necessity of going to training camps and becoming soldiers. In fact, there are slackers in offices, in business houses, in factories and on the farms. However, no one can afford to be a slacker now with the call for funds for the second Liberty loan ringing in their ears. It means, perhaps, personal sacrifices, but still it means freedom and ammunition to the boys who are not slackers and will face the enemy. Be they in the trenches, on foreign shores, in cantonments or army camps. The call has been issued for subscriptions. Do not be a slacker, but come to the front and subscribe and take a bond or two or three, or as many as you can afford and show the "Hun" you may not be able to fight him personally with a rifle or a big gun, but you can help furnish the equipment to feed and arm a man that can—a real life soldier.

THE AVALANCHE.

Just what the United States senate committee on privileges and election will actually do as regards the case of Robert M. La Follette, senior senator from Wisconsin, is hard to say unless they decide to postpone action for some indefinite period. This would be of course the easiest way out of a dilemma that confronts them, which they hate to tackle. They can vote as individuals for billions of dollars worth of war appropriations. Can enlarge the army and navy at a word, can condemn the actions of individual members in debates on the floor, but to actually oust a member, even if assured that he is a traitor to his country, is going a bit further than they evidently desire. The avalanche of demands that La Follette be ousted, coming from his own party, from areas which helped elect him, from our societies, from organizations in dozens of other states, sweeps down on Washington, but perhaps those men who steer matters political can avert the course and turn its channel into some other basin than the United States senate. The public is aroused and look with eyes of vengeance upon Wisconsin. Poor Wisconsin, which has to bear the brunt of the burden of its accredited disloyal senator and doubtful members of congress while its citizens are loyal to the core. Perhaps the avalanche will swallow up Robert M. La Follette, but it is doubtful.

When a man hurries down to business now, it may be anxiety to get to work, and it may be that he merely wants a quiet half hour to read the world's series dope.

THAT LIBRARY FUND.

In all this rush about the Liberty loan and the Y. M. C. A. and the rummage sale and any other local activity that needs money, do not forget that a dollar will buy a book for a boy in the trenches or some cantonment or camp that will be worth ten times its intrinsic value in driving away homesickness and ennui. (We have to use French terms now) than anything else you can do. Five hundred dollars is Janesville's share, so be one of those who contribute at one of the four banks or the Gazette office. A dollar is a dollar—one hundred cents—but think of what it will buy for the soldiers who are away from home and have no means to buy anything in the reading line.

The German people are not worrying about the training of the men now beginning at our army cantonments, as Bill Hohenzollern has informed them in strict confidence that we are merely going to train a few detachments of Boy Scouts there.

That report of a German submarine near our coasts may not have been wholly useless, if it suggests to President Wilson that dry land is a good, comfortable place for distinguished personages just now.

Janesville has a unit of the new Wisconsin state guard. Janesville has a platoon of high school students just aching to start drilling and there are many boy scout troops, so why are that Janesville is not doing its bit among the stay-at-home crowd.

While they expected it for weeks, still this raise in the price of all liquors is hitting lots of retailers particularly hard and they wonder what is going to happen next. Way, the country is going dry; that is the next plan.

Francisco Villa complains of being incessantly pursued by Mexican government troops. But any time he gets tired of running, he can always back up to the wall and take a dose of the same firing squad he gave to so many others.

Gardeners who get discouraged this year on account of insect pests and early frosts, are probably the same ones that think it is strange the farmers don't double their acreage and increase production.

As soon as the speculative element can induce the public to sell its stocks and bonds on account of the dreadful war conditions, the inside speculative crowd will put the market up and make some money.

The spies and plotters must be gaining a wholesome respect for the secret service, or there would have been some purely accidental smash ups in transporting those 300,000 men to the camps.

The United States is paying out $14,000,000 for entertainment for the soldiers, while the slackers with reluctance are coughing up the price for their own blowouts.

Some of these fellows who had teeth pulled to escape army service will feel fine some day when they learn they have enough heart and lung trouble to let them out anyway.

The high class literary and musical entertainments so many towns are arranging now will be a success, if they have a lot of female good lookers out selling the tickets.

Who says the cattle shows and county fairs aren't educational, when the boys are getting so expert on cane ringing and throwing baseballs at the African Dodger?

Some of our public men deny that they are traitors, as they are merely exercising their constitutional right to help destroy the United States.

About now many people are looking over their backs and generously contributing to the soldiers those they don't ever want to see again.

It is claimed that wooden shoes will soon have to be used, and at least they would be useful in kicking book agents out of the door.

It is no doubt good judgment for so few of the states to hold fall elections this year, as it might interfere with the world's series ball games.

Our soldiers will have to learn to say "Non" as well as "Oui" when these pretty French girls come buzzing around them.

HAZING RESULTS IN TWO MINOR INJURIES

Ralph Morse, Freshman at the University, Slightly Injured During Hazing Thursday Evening.

Madison Wis., Oct. 5.—Ralph Morse of Janesville, a freshman at the University of Wisconsin, and C. A. Wierking, of Grafton, a sophomore, were slightly injured during a hazing episode Thursday evening. While the sophomores were making an attempt to capture one of the freshmen in front of Frank's restaurant, the heavy plate window was broken. The pieces of glass fell, cutting and bruising Morse and Wierking. Both men were taken to the university clinic where they had their injuries attended to. Friday morning they were released from the infirmary, none the worse for their experience.

The hazing outbreak of Thursday night was one of the most extensive in recent years. The sophomores are giving the freshmen an unusual amount of the hazing stunts. About fifty were captured in the courtyard of the university during the evening in addition to making them perform all the customary stunts of proposing, singing class and high school songs, pennant rolling and sitting on bubbling fountains.

The outbreak of the hazing was the result of the efforts the freshmen made to hold a meeting at Camp Randall to discuss their plans for the year. A battle between the classes occurred at the corner of Park and State streets.

The climax of the freshmen and sophomore rivalry will be held Friday and Saturday afternoon when the two classes engage in the annual bag rush on the lower campus. The two classes will meet for fifteen minutes to battle for the possession of fifteen bags. The side gaining possession of the most bags in this time will be declared the winner.

CITY FEDERATION PLANS ACTIVITIES

Board of Directors Arranges Open Meeting and Discusses Varied Activities for Winter.

An open meeting for the City Federation of Women will be held on the last Thursday in October, according to plans made at the board meeting held yesterday at the rest room. It is to be the semi-annual business meeting and all members of federated clubs are expected to be present. Mayor Mathers is to be invited to speak on that occasion and reports will be given of the work accomplished by the organization and plans made for the future. Beside this meeting, arrangements were made for a lecture to be given at Library hall on Nov. 8 by a member of the conservation board of the state, on the topic "What and How to Eat." Mrs. Ford spoke to the ladies on yesterday on the need of help in floating the Liberty loan, and various suggestions were given by different individuals along that line. Also she spoke of suggestions made by the defense council, of some plan being formulated, encouraging the use of a uniform for girls in the high school and in the 8th, 9th and 10th grades. A middy blouse and dark skirt was the uniform suggested, as being simple and appropriate. A request was made by the seed committee of last year, that people gather flower seeds as they ripen and save them for the use of the school children another year. Cosmos, asters, marigolds, zinnias, and some other hardy flowers are now ripening and can be easily saved, and will help out the supply another year.

Mrs. Percy Munger reported that the curio committee had planned a meeting for next Monday. Miss Grace Mout of the welfare committee suggested plans for an evening club for girls, for Red Cross sewing and different individuals were given by the treasurer, Mrs. H. D. Murdoch, secretary, Mrs. C. S. Atwood and chairman of the finance committee, Miss Hattie Alden, while the president, Mrs. S. M. Smith gave an informal report of outside work done by the organization.

PREPARE TO TREAT INSANE SOLDIERS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, Oct. 5.—Of all the American soldiers who will be invalided back from European service, 20 per cent will require treatment in insane asylums. Shell-shock and similar maladies will affect at least this many, in the opinion of Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington. Congress has voted him funds to expand the hospital. These estimates: That 10 per cent of the 2,000,000 soldiers who will see service abroad will be invalided home; that one-fifth of them will be temporarily or permanently insane. Because his institution may not be able to care for all the patients, Dr. White has been given authority to send the men to hospitals throughout the country the government paying for the service. "I will not estimate the number of men I expect to treat," said Dr. White.

"The very best we may hope for is several thousand. The science of restoring their minds will progress rapidly. Mental examiners will visit cantonment camps to see that drafted men who seem likely to succumb easily to intense nervous excitement are exempted from foreign service."

BRITISH HAVE TAKEN 72,513 IN 9 MONTHS

London, Oct. 5.—Summing up the work of the British army during the first nine months of the year General F. B. Maurice, chief of military operations of the war office said today: "During the period we have taken on the western front 51,435 German prisoners and 332 field and heavy guns, while our losses have been 15,063 prisoners and no guns. In all theaters we have taken 72,513 prisoners and 470 guns and have lost 15,850 prisoners and no guns."

Evansville News

Evansville, Oct. 5.—Ivan Fay, son of Rev. and Mrs. Fay, who went into volunteer service in France in the early part of this year, returned home in Evansville last evening. Early in September the order was given by our government recalling all young men who volunteered for service in field and ambulance work, before our country entered into the war. Many of them, volunteered for work and were working as French soldiers, receiving their salary from the French government. Mr. Fay, who has been in France, has received twenty-five centimes (less than five cents in our money) per day for his services. The United States government required these men to either enlist over there for the duration of the war or would give them honorable release and they might return to their own country and their homes. But at the age of twenty-one and thirty-one must register within five days after reaching their homes. The greater per cent of the young men chose to be released, but in some cases a few preferred the former condition. During his stay in France Mr. Fay has been stationed within fifteen miles of Verdun and two miles from Hill 304. His work has been in and about this territory and he has seen and experienced some of the thrilling and awful ordeals of war. He, with twelve other young men, left France in the middle of September for England and they wished to return to the states on an English boat rather than a French one, and also to see England. They crossed the channel for it was from Liverpool that they embarked for home. They were not in London for any of the recent air raids, but every night of their stay in old England, gigantic searchlights of the enemy's dreadnoughts of the air. The young men took passage on the Baltic, one of the White Star liners, and reached New York on Tuesday, Oct. 2. From there Mr. Fay came directly home, reaching here late yesterday afternoon. After registering he plans to go to Cable, Wis. where his parents have been for the summer. Recruiting Office in Evansville.

Postmaster Alex. Richardson received notice from the government that next Monday, Sergeant George E. Danes of the general service infantry, will establish a recruiting office in this city, where all men within the military age limits will be given a chance to enlist. This will give those who are drawn for the second draft, a chance to enlist as volunteers instead of going as drafted men.

The ladies of the war relief have just finished packing and shipping a large box containing 1,900 separate articles. This shipment is made from here to New York City, and from there is sent to the needy and suffering in France.

Mrs. Nettie Horton will leave on Monday next for New York City and other eastern cities until after the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baker, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Barnard and Masters Martin Baker and Donald Cole motored to Rockford, Thursday, to visit Camp Grant.

Mr. Joseph Winship of Brodhead arrived in Evansville on Thursday for a visit with friends.

Joseph Cowell and family of Albany spent Wednesday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cowell.

Rev. M. G. Goodall will spend all next week in Evansville, the guest of his parishioners.

The Literary club met Monday evening with Mrs. George Magee at her home on North Madison street. She entertained them later in the evening at a theatre party.

Messrs. John Baker and C. J. Pearson were in Madison, Wednesday, to hear Secretary McAdoo's speech.

News Notes From Movieland

At the end of every comedy in which Louise Fazenda appears a grand celebration comes off in California.

Louise dons her old hiking togs whistles to her dog and starts off on a long tramp. To the edge of civilization she wears a khaki skirt, but as she bids the last house good-bye she takes off her feminine hobbles and strides out like a boy in olive drab riding breeches and boots.

Her dog is an Alredale terrier and is about the ugliest looking critter that the sun ever shone upon, but in the eyes of Miss Fazenda, he is as beautiful as a sunset. Anyhow he does very well as a hiking companion. He has long teeth like a wolf, and any argument in which he engages ends in a funeral. The wandering hobo who tries to interfere with Miss Fazenda's hike would be a mighty poor life insurance risk.

It happens that the Los Angeles studios are well adapted to her vacation needs. Within walking distance of the city is a great national forest with thousands of square miles of enticing wilderness, into which she plunges light heartedly.

There are mountain streams full of hungry trout, pine forests, cold mountain lakes. His and there Louise finds government rangers' cabins where she can get in touch with the studio by telephone if she is needed for another picture.

When Ralph Ince started to enact the first Lincoln series of photo plays, and Anita Stewart was his leading lady, when Gene Gauntier staged her series of Irish photo plays in Ireland, and they were hailed as wonderful productions.

When John Bunny played in "Way Down East," and when he later turned to the photo plays he was hailed as a discovery.

When John Ince produced his series of old time releases for Lubin—the Old Oaken Bucket, and the like—and they received no recognition whatsoever?

When Ethel Clayton was a chorus girl in the La Salle musical comedies in Chicago?

When Thanouser made one of the first productions of "Romeo and Juliet," and the tomb scene was recorded under the light of the moonlight sun?

Gail Kane doesn't care especially who knows that she is found of the noble sport of fishing. She knows all the secret trout spots in the California hills, and once in a while, when Miss Kane does not report at the studio at Santa Barbara, Cal., may be reasonably certain that she is whipping a stream somewhere in a rocky spot around the Santa Ynez river. Then the players plan for a trout dinner next day, for Miss Kane is generous in the distribution, and always brings home enough for everybody who likes them.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have always believed in doing good to everyone and for everyone. There is a young girl I know who lost her mother when she was too little to remember. She grew up among very unpleasant surroundings and her family was mean to her. She made quite a few mistakes but tried to correct them. Now she sees things differently and tries to live right, but people who knew of her mistakes are always talking about the poor girl. She is in love with a young man and those people have told him things about her some of them are true and many are false. She came to me and asked for advice and I don't know what to tell her so I am asking you. I have known her a long time and she is a good girl at heart only she has been abused so much she doesn't know which way to turn. The young man refused at first to listen to the people who told her lies. You must explain to her that what people will say to the young man will not hurt her if they are not true. Now it is time for her to go with this young man and tell him the truth in a way that will make him want to shield her and take care of her and not in any way that will make him ashamed to have her for his wife. He loves her and if she is careful about the way she talks to him she can tell him everything and he will think only good of her. She could not think of marrying him without a clear conscience. If he turns away from her, she is better off without him. If he takes the right attitude about it she will be sure to marry him and have him find out the truth later—he would never forgive her for having deceived him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a

A Cure For Bluntness

There are certain diseases of the mind for which there is no treatment so powerful as homeopathic treatment. And chief among these is an overdevelopment of the habit of bluntness. We all know the type of person who prides himself on his bluntness. He doesn't believe in tact. He thinks it's dreadful. And he is never deceitful. He says exactly what he means. (Strange he should so often mean something disagreeable.) He tells you that your new gown is unbecoming, that you are looking very tired, that your house is in the opposite direction, that he wouldn't give house room to the kind of electric fixtures you have bought, that he has seen roses which are as large as these you pride yourself on, etc., etc. He thinks he tells the whole truth and you know it. Doubtless, if you asked this man why he didn't tell the whole truth as well as the truth, he would inflate his chest and tell you that is exactly what he aims to do. But it is exactly what he doesn't do. For every disagreeable truth there is usually some compensating pleasant truth. Your new gown may not be becoming, but it is of beautiful material and smart style. Your electric fixtures may not be to his taste but they may be excellent of their kind. Why is it any more truthful to say the disagreeable than the agreeable thing? Be Homeopathic Except in the Size of the Dose. And now for the homeopathic treatment. Your patient has the disease of too much bluntness. The homeopathic remedy is that like cures like. So treat him with a similar bluntness. Be as blunt with him as he is with you. There are things about him that don't wholly suit you. Bring them to his attention. Don't do it just after he has got under your skin with one of

CANNING AND PRESERVING

Corn Relish—Thirteen cups corn, thirteen cups chopped cabbage, six red peppers chopped, three cups sugar, two tablespoons salt, one cup vinegar, six tablespoons dried mustard. Mix with one tablespoon flour. Let come to a boil, then boil twenty minutes. Put in glass cans and seal. This makes about six quarts. Canned Corn—Sterilize sufficient number of pint Mason jars and lids to hold the corn. Cut corn off cob, remove cob. Drain jars until juice runs over top. Screw on lids without rubbers. Place a cloth in bottom of each can, set on stove with enough slightly warm water to cover jars. Put jars on rubbers, boil an hour longer. A lid can hold seven pints or quart cans. Cucumbers—Take twelve large cucumbers and six onions, slice, salt to taste, let stand over night, drain in the morning. Boil together one pint white vinegar, one cup granulated sugar, one teaspoon salt, pour this solution over cucumbers and onions and let come to a boil. They are then ready to put in jars and seal. Warm Jam and Jelly—We can save sugar and still have jam and jelly. Instead of using the same amount of sugar as fruit when making jams and fruit butter, use just half as much as sugar. It will not be so strong and will have a more fruity taste. Any fruit juice except currant or gooseberry will tell better. If only three-fourths as much sugar as juice is used, the jam will be much better. Apples are usually cheaper than other fruit, so when making jam or butter use one-third as much apple sugar as when making other fruit. The apple sugar cannot be detected. The same method can be followed in making jelly. Use one-third as much apple juice as other fruit juice. Much apple juice is sold in the grocery store in the form of jelly purchased at the grocery you will see that it is part apple; it does not spoil the flavor and makes it cheaper. Mock Citron—The harder part of watermelon, next to the skin, made into preserves with sugar, equal weights, cooking down the sirup rather more than for common use, causes it to granulate, like citron. This, chopped fine, as citron, makes an excellent substitute for that article, and costs much less. You can use this with success in puddings and cakes and it is so nice in mince pies instead of raisins.

Don't Waste, Don't Starve—there is plenty of food for all if you will only do your bit in preventing waste. Demand the whole wheat grain in breakfast foods and bread. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is 100 per cent. whole wheat—nothing wasted, every particle utilized. It contains more real nutriment than meat, and costs much less. For any meal with milk and fruits.

VINEGAR IN PLASTER OF PARIS—To fill cracks in plaster use vinegar instead of water in your plaster of Paris. The resultant mixture will be like putty, and will not "set" for twenty or thirty minutes. Push it into the cracks and smooth it off nicely with a table knife.

FOR STICKY STARCH—A spoonful of lard in boiling starch prevents it sticking to the iron. Beeswax covered with several thicknesses of cloth rubbed on the hot iron prevents the starch collecting on it. If clothes are sprinkled with hot water they iron better.

A DRESSMAKING HINT—A cork full of thumb tacks kept in the work basket will be found invaluable when cutting out garments; the tacks hold the patterns securely and do not wrinkle the goods.

HEALTH TALKS

NO ORGANIC TROUBLE

So many readers who write for advice give up a more or less ill-defined description of their ailments and then, assuring us that they have been told by the doctor that they have no organic trouble, ask us to give them a diagnosis or prescribe for them. Every organic disease, so far as our knowledge goes, is a functional disturbance in the system. Some of the most common functional disturbances are: heart failure, arteriosclerosis, you and I, as well as our friends and neighbors, are liable to develop one or another of these or several troubles sooner or later. If we decide ourselves with the notion that our symptoms are purely functional, as they usually are in the earlier stages of all these diseases, then the outlook is going to be none too favorable. The Singular Person who has his tonsils removed will this spoil his voice for elocution? (Anxious.) Answer—No. That Five Per Centum Stuff. A girl friend of mine writes me that she has obtained excellent results by using a "five per centum" ointment suggested by "old Doctor Brady" (though she is a great admirer and advocate of yours and I am sure she means the "old" in a respectful way). I, too, have much trouble from dandruff, and would appreciate information about the "five per centum." (E. M. C.) Answer—Precipitated sulphur, 30 grains; salicylic acid, 8 grains; extract of violet (scent), 5 drops; lin. 2 drams; petroleum (vaseline), 5 lbs. To be dispensed in collapsible tube. Rub a little into scalp on fingertips, parting hair here and there, and covering perhaps one-fourth of scalp each evening. Shampoo every five or seven days.

The Business of Living

Patty Tells of a Thrilling Encounter On the Western Front. "Dear Folks at Home: I have just returned from such an interesting little ceremony that I want to tell you about it. While the thing is fresh in my memory, I will tell you what happened. I was awarded the military medal for bravery. As two of them had been my patients, I was given leave to witness the presentation. I would not have minded anything if it had been anything but a military medal. Twenty in a twelve non-commissioned officers were decorated with the medal. The two patients of mine were the stretcher bearers Jack and Mary. I have told you, and a fine young Canadian, a military man, I do not think I have told you anything about him and I must for he surely is worth hearing about. "As his company were rushing in a field gun into place, following a faint charge, a shell exploded so near him as to stun him, but by some miracle he was entirely unhurt. When he regained consciousness he raised himself on his elbow and looked about him to find how things were. He could not see any of his company but the boches were pretty thick at no great distance. He stepped into a shell hole and kept a sharp lookout. Suddenly he saw a machine gun crew dragging their field piece into place and pointing it toward the allied lines. Then he knew what had happened. The attacking party had been outflanked and were trapped. The gun crew were preparing to move them down at short range. He got so excited that he never thought that he was alone when he thought that he was alone when he saw hand grenades; then began creeping along the ground as fast Place your address and the date at the upper right hand corner of the page; a little lower down and near the left margin, write the man's name; under the name place his address; and below the address write "Dear Sir," sign yourself "Yours truly" (Miss) Alida Smith.

S. R. I: It is extremely rude, as well as useless, to interrupt a person who is carrying on a conversation over the telephone; and your sister was right for reproving you for doing so. While she was talking, she could not hear what you said, and when she was silent remember that she was listening to the other person. If you also wished to speak to the girl on the line, the best plan would have been to wait until your sister had finished her conversation, and then to have gotten the connection again.

HEALTH INSPECTION NEEDED IN SCHOOLS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Oct. 5.—No greater object lesson for health supervision of school children has been advanced than the record of disqualifications of registered men by reasons of physical defects found by examining boards in Wisconsin and elsewhere. The number of men found physically fit, free from any disease or defect, has been exceedingly small. Physical perfection was not expected nor required, but the army demands men free from defects that will cripple their efficiency or diseases that will destroy their strength and usefulness.

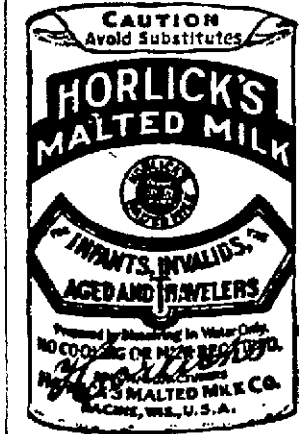

Health and authorities interpret these facts to mean that these young men, disqualified for physical reasons, are now handicapped with defects which, with attention, could have been remedied or removed altogether a few years ago. Inspection of the children in the schools to discover what defects exist now becomes a patriotic measure. Had proper care been taken of the teeth or had the tonsils been locked after in youth, and heart and lungs

Sculptor's Masterpiece.

The famous statue of St. Bruno at Rome was made by the great master of French sculpture, Houdon (1741-1828). At the invitation of Franklin, Houdon visited America in the year 1785 and took casts for the statue of Washington, now at Richmond, Va., said by Lafayette to be the best likeness obtained of the "American Patriot." St. Bruno belonged to the order of Trappists, whose chief law was silence. Pope Clement XVI, on seeing the statue of St. Bruno, exclaimed: "He would speak did not the rule of his order forbid."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety percent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Resinol
will soothe that itching skin

The first application of Resinol usually takes the itch and burn right out of eczema and similar skin-affections. This gentle, healing ointment seems to get right at the root of the trouble, restoring the skin to health in a surprisingly short time. Resinol is sold by all druggists.

I remember how my mother had found relief from pain by using Lydia E. I am able to do my work during such times and am recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends who suffer as I did."—Miss META TREDEMANN, 1822 Jefferson Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

ance of Mademoiselle in Chesnayue. I left her with Major Callons while I danced with my lady, and have since found no trace of the maid.

"Does not Callons know?" "Only that, seeking refreshments, he left her, and found her gone on his return. Her wraps are in the dressing room."

"Then 'tis not like she has fled the palace. No doubt she awaits you in some corner. I will have the servants look, and meanwhile pay heed to me. This is a mission of more import than love-making with a maid, Monsieur Cassion, and its success or failure will determine your future. You have my letter of instruction?"

"It has been carefully read." "And the sealed orders for Chevalier de Baugis?"

"Here, protected in oiled silk." "See that they reach him, and no one else; they give him an authority I could not grant before, and should you have met this Henri de Tonty? He was here with his master three years since and had audience."

"Ay, but that was before my time. Is he one to resist De Baugis?"

"He impressed me as a man who would obey to the letter, monsieur; a dour-faced soldier, with an iron jaw. He had lost one arm in battle, and was loyal to his chief."

"So I have heard—a stronger man than De Baugis?"

"A more resolute; all depends on what orders La Salle left, and the number of men the two command."

"In that respect the difference is not great. De Baugis had but a handful of soldiers to take from Mackinac, although his voyageurs may be depended upon to obey his will. His instructions were not to employ force."

shortly, "although I first engaged his services merely for what I deemed to be their value. He spoke me most fairly."

"But since?"

"I have cause to suspect. Chevet tells me that today he had conference with mademoiselle at the house of the Ursulines."

"Ah, 'twas for that then you had his ticket revoked. I see where the shoe pinches. 'Twill be safer with him in the boats than back here in Quebec. Then I give permission, and wash my hands of the whole affair—but beware of him, Cassion."

"I may be trusted, sir." "I question that no longer." He hesitated slightly, then added in lower tone: "If accident occur the report may be briefly made. I think that will be all."

Both men were upon their feet, and La Barre extended his hand across the desk. I do not know what movement may have caused it, but at that moment a wooden ring holding the curtain fell, and struck the floor at my feet. Obedient the first impulse I thrust D'Artigny back behind me into the shadow, and held aside the drapery.

Both men, turning, started at the sound, beheld me clearly, and stared in amazement. Cassion took a step forward, an exclamation of surprise breaking from his lips.

"Adele! Mademoiselle!" I stepped more fully into the light, permitting the curtain to fall behind me, and my eyes swept their faces.

"Yes, monsieur—you were seeking me?" "For an hour past; for what reason did you leave the ballroom?"

With no purpose in my mind but to gain time in which to collect my thought and protect D'Artigny from discovery, I made answer, assuming a carelessness of demeanor which I was far from feeling.

"Has it been so long, monsieur?" I returned in apparent surprise. "Why I merely sought a breath of fresh air, and became interested in the scene without."

La Barre stood motionless. Just as he had risen to his feet at the first alarm, his eyes on my face, his heavy eyebrows contracted in a frown.

"I will question the young lady, Cassion," he said sternly, "for I have interests here of my own. Mademoiselle!"

"Yes, monsieur." "How long have you been behind that curtain?"

"Monsieur Cassion claims to have sought me for an hour."

"Enough of that," his voice grew harsh, and threatening. "You address the governor; answer me direct."

I lifted my eyes to his stern face, but they instantly fell before the encounter of his fierce gaze.

"I do not know, monsieur." "Who was here when you came in?"

"No one, monsieur; the room was empty."

"Then you hid there, and overheard the conversation between Colonel Delguard and myself?"

"Yes, monsieur." "I confessed, feeling my limbs tremble." "And also all that has passed since Monsieur Cassion entered?"

"Well, we'll test it then, but not in the form you anticipate." He smiled, but not pleasantly, and resumed his seat at the desk. "I propose closing your mouth, mademoiselle, and placing you beyond temptation. Monsieur Cassion, have the lieutenant at the door enter."

As though in a daze I saw Cassion open the door, speak a sharp word to one without and return, followed by a young officer, who glanced curiously aside at me, even as he saluted La Barre, and stood silently awaiting his orders. The latter remained a moment motionless, his lips firm set.

"Where is Father Le Guard?" "In the chapel, monsieur; he passed me a moment ago."

"Good; inform the pere that I desire his presence at once. Wait! know you the fur trader, Hugo Chevet?"

"I have seen the man, monsieur—a big fellow, with a shaggy head."

"Ay, as savage as the Indians he has lived among. He is to be found at Eclair's wine shop in the Rue St. Louis. Have your sentries bring him here to me. Attend to both these matters."

"Yes, monsieur." La Barre's eyes turned from the disappearing figure of the officer, rested a moment on my face, and then smiled grimly as he confronted Cassion. He seemed well pleased with himself, and to have recovered his good humor.

"A delightful surprise for you, Monsieur Cassion," he said gently, "and let us hope no less a pleasure for the fair lady. He seated, mademoiselle. Your marriage is to take place to-night."

"This affair is no longer one of affection; it has become the king's business, a matter of state. I decide it best for you to leave Quebec; ay! and New France, mademoiselle. There is but one choice, imprisonment here, or exile into the wilderness. He leaned forward staring into my face with his fierce, threatening eyes. 'I feel it better that you go as Monsieur Cassion's wife, and under his protection. I decree that so you shall go.'

"Alone—with—Monsieur Cassion?"

"One of his party. 'Tis my order also that Hugo Chevet be of the company. Perchance a year in the wilderness may be of benefit to him, and he might be of value in watching over young D'Artigny."

Never have I felt more helpless, more utterly alone. I knew all he meant, but my mind grasped no way of escape. His face loomed at me as through a mist, yet as I glanced aside at Cassion it only brought home to me a more complete defection. The man was glad—glad! He had no conscience, no shame. To appeal to him would be waste of breath—a deeper humiliation. Suddenly I felt cold, hard, reckless; ay! they had the power to force me through the unholy ceremony. I was only a helpless girl; but beyond that I would laugh at them; and Cassion—if he dared—

The door opened, and a lean priest in long black robe entered noiselessly, bending his shaven head to La Barre, as his crafty eyes swiftly swept over my face.

"Monsieur desired my presence?" "Yes, Pere le Guard, a mission of happiness. There are two here to be joined in matrimony by bonds of Holy church. We but wait the coming of the lady's guardian."

The pere must have interpreted the expression of my face.

"By order of the king," returned La Barre sternly. "Beyond that it is not necessary that you inquire. Ah! Monsieur Chevet; they found you then? I have a pleasant surprise for you. 'Tis hereby ordered that you accompany Commissaire Cassion to the Illinois country as interpreter, to be paid from my private fund."

Chevet stared into the governor's dark face, scarce able to comprehend, his brain dazed from heavy drinking. "The Illinois country! I—Hugo Chevet? 'Tis some joke, monsieur?"

"None at all, as you will discover presently, my man. I do not jest on the king's service."

"But my land, monsieur; my niece?" La Barre permitted himself a laugh. "Bah! let the land lie fallow; 'twill cost little while you draw a wage, and as for mademoiselle, 'tis that you may accompany her I make choice. Stand back; you have your orders, and now I'll show you good reason." He stood up and placed his hand on Cassion's arm. "Now, my dear Francois, if you will join the lady."

Dinner Stories

"Have another piece of cake," said Johnny's mother to a friend who was taking tea with her.

"No, don't," she said, "put in Johnny, 'it will make you sick.'"

"Why, Johnny, are you not ashamed of yourself to talk in that way?" said his mother.

"Well, mother, that is what you always tell me when I want another piece, and I'm sure I can eat four times as much as Mrs. Green can," answered Johnny.

Signor Marconi, in an interview in Washington, praised American democracy.

"Over here," he said, "you respect a man for what he is himself—not for what his family is—and thus you remind me of the gardener in Bologna who helped me with my first wireless apparatus."

As my mother's gardener and I were working on my apparatus to see her a young count joined us one day, and while he watched us work he boasted of his lineage.

"The gardener, after listening a long while smiled and said: 'If you come from an ancient family it's so much the worse for you, for, as we gardeners say, the older the seed the worse the crop.'"

Marion came to the breakfast table late, and was scanned by the reproachful eyes of her mother.

"Did that young man kiss you last night, Marion?" said the very pretty girl, with a reminiscent smile.

"Do you suppose that he came all the way from Forty-third street to hear me sing?"

TEAMS ARE SET FOR THE WORLD'S SERIES

New York, Oct. 5.—When the Chicago Americans and the New York Nationals, representing winners of their respective championships, meet in the opening game of the 1917 world series at Comiskey park, Chicago, tomorrow, the contest will bring together teams of virtually equal offensive and defensive strength. So far as is possible to ascertain in advance there is little if any advantage in favor of one of the other combinations. An analysis of the work of the individual players and the teams as units shows that if there is a preference in one direction this margin of strength is counterbalanced by the opponents' edge in another department of the play.

Both the White Sox and the Cubs are clubs of unusual culture with brilliant young players holding down certain positions while older and veteran professionals scattered throughout the combinations, steady the teams and give that touch of experience necessary to perfect any machine. If there is any outstanding advantage which will count in the contests of the next few days it may be that the proportion of players who have taken part in previous world series will favor the New York Giants. Even this is problematical, however, for the history of this baseball classic is not wanting in examples where youthful players, untried by time, have proved the star and deciding factors in the battle for the inter-league championship.

From every angle of comparison the conclusion is reached that the series about to begin will prove one of the most exciting and closely fought since these contests were taken in charge by the national commission in 1905 and made an annual climax to the baseball season. A study of the records of the players and the teams in their respective leagues develops the fact that so far as figures and averages can disclose there is little margin of advantage for either club. Taking the personnel of the teams as they are expected to enter the battle, the statistics show that the Giants are a little stronger in hitting, while the White Sox have a few points the better of the fielding. The National league standard batters appear to have the edge in dividing plays, but the Chicago combination offsets this with more stolen bases, indicating greater speed on the baselines. It is one of the axioms of world series play that the winning of the first game carries greater weight than the mere numerical ratio of victory, and for this reason it is customary for the managers of the rival teams to send their best pitchers to the mound in order to gain the lead, and have the same pitcher available for the third, fifth, even seventh game should the occasion arise. For this reason the general expectation is that Manager Rowland will select Cicotte to face the Cardinals while Manager McGraw will depend upon Schupp.

Both these twirlers are among the star pitchers of their leagues, with remarkable records for the pennant season just closed. Cicotte is a right hander with a pitching average of .667; earned runs per inning of 1.54, and close to 150 strike-outs to his credit for the year. Schupp is a left hander with a pitching average of .737; earned runs per inning of 1.92, and a strike-out record which at least equals Cicotte's. With these sensational hurlers working in the initial game and the other divisions of the teams as evenly matched as the accompanying figures would appear to indicate, it can be easily understood why the contest is being so eagerly awaited. The belief that the home combination will capture four of the seven games necessary to clinch the championship.

"SPARE THE DOE" IS PLEA OF WARDENS TO HUNTERS

Milwaukee, Oct. 5.—Despite the repeal of the "buck" law, making it lawful for a licensed hunter to kill either a buck or doe, authorities are urging sportsmen to spare the doe. Hunting of deer this year is not far off.

The chief reason pointed out by the government for sparing does is that a doe saved means another fawn next spring and of course one more doe. The following recommendations are made:

"Do not kill a spike buck or doe when you can obtain a full grown buck. Do not kill deer when weather conditions or difficulties of transportation prevent saving the meat. Save every pound of meat and the skin and head also, if the antlers are in good condition."

"Do not shoot deer at night, or in the water, or unless you can clearly see that the animal aimed at is a full grown buck. Failure to observe this rule usually results in a violation of the game laws and often in the loss of human life."

PLAY SATURDAY AND SUNDAY AT BELOIT

Cardinals Will Play Two More Games of Series at Beloit This Week—
Many Fans Will Make the Trip.

In spite of the two defeats handed the Cardinals on last Saturday and Sunday, by the Beloit Purities, at Beloit, Manager Langdon will send his team against Beloit again this week. Both games will be played in Beloit on Saturday and Sunday at the Purities' park.

Following the defeats Manager Langdon has decided to make one or two changes in the line-up of his team in order to cop the games. The hitting of the men last week was very weak, but the fielding was excellent. Manager Langdon will secure the services of some heavy hitters to lead the attack on the Gateway City team. It took both pitchers for Beloit the full nine innings to win from the locals. The scores of the games were close throughout and were won by a rally in the last inning.

A large crowd of Janesville fans will make the trip on both Saturday and Sunday to witness the Rock county "world's series." The real feature of the two game series will be the bullet service at the park which will keep the spectators in touch with the world's series games in Chicago. Reports by innings will be received at Morse field on both days and the announcements will be made as the reports come to the park. The White Sox and Giants will start their game at two o'clock, one hour earlier than the Beloit-Janisville game, so that the result of the games will be announced before the Fairy game is over.

Beloit will be minus the services of two of its men in the games. Jimmy Ertel has contracted a Charley horse which will undoubtedly remain with him for the remainder of the season and "Shorty" Thomas will go to Camp Grant with the conscripted men. There is a chance, however, that Thomas will not leave for the national army camp until after the series. Both men were classed as the heaviest stickers on the Beloit team and their absence will be greatly missed.

Don't sit still with wet feet. Walk until you have a chance to change.

WISCONSIN MEETS BELOIT TOMORROW

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Oct. 5.—Final scrimmage last night by the Beloit college football team and a night workout today marked the putting of finishing touches on the eleven for their opening season tilt with the University of Wisconsin eleven on Camp Randall at Madison tomorrow. Coach Little, new gridiron tutor from Kentucky, has done wonders with Beloit's team and the eleven will go northwards ready to at least score on the Badgers.

Due to the scarcity of upper classmen in college on account of the war, the freshmen eligibility rule has been dropped. Yearlings will be allowed to play in four of the games during the season. The lineup announced for the Wisconsin game is: Parsons and Smith, ends; Wilburn and Miles, tackles; Foster and Mohr, guards; Sanborn, center; Phillips, quarterback; Brown and Lansing, halves; and Coe, full.

PRACTICE GAMES TO BE PLAYED SATURDAY

Chicago, Oct. 5.—After a rather feeble start a week ago, football will get under full swing in the middle west Oct. 6 with every member of the "Big Ten" except Chicago and Minnesota tearing up the gridiron. Chicago will open its season a week later with Vanderbilt as its opponent. Minnesota will face South Dakota state at Minneapolis.

Practically all of Saturday's games are regarded as practice games to put the eleven on edge for more important games a week later, but Coach Zuppke of the University of Illinois thinks this to be a good idea to apply to his team's contest with the University of Kansas. Some Urbana critics believe that defeat faces the Illini unless they show their scrimmage work, as Kansas, playing its first game a week ago, rolled up a 149 to 9 score against Kingfisher. The Jayhawkers, reported to be fast and powerful, will come to Urbana with high hopes of winning.

Other games on Saturday's schedule will bring together Case and Michigan at Ann Arbor, Cornell college and Iowa at Iowa City, Wabash and Indiana at Bloomington, Franklin and Purdue at Lafayette, Beloit and Wisconsin at Madison, Northwestern and Lake Forest at Evanston, and Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio State at Columbus.

Ohio State's first game of the season with Case last Saturday demonstrated beyond a doubt, coaches and rooters believe, that last year's champions of the western conference are strong contenders for the championship again this year.

"Y" BOYS RUNNING MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN ON A MILITARY BASIS

The Y. M. C. A. boys' membership campaign is in full swing and the prospects for a complete success are of the brightest. The campaign is manager on a military basis and the boys are imbued with the same military spirit and enthusiasm which marks the American boy, when he is heart and soul in the work.

There are four companies in the campaign, Co. Y, Co. M, Co. C, Co. A. Captain Russell and his company captured the first line of trenches, ably assisted by Lieutenants Koenig and Powers, but it is expected that one of the other companies will take the first line as they are now making a "pig push."

On Friday night of next week the pennant will be presented to the company which got the most new members and all Y. M. C. A. boys under sixteen years will be given a booster banquet.

A week from Saturday morning all the young fellows in the city will be given a chance to get a swim in the "Y" tank.

BELGIANS FORCED TO WORK AT FRONT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Havre, Oct. 5.—Male civilians in the Belgian towns of Langemark, Staden, Elverdinghe, Woumen and Reclers, which recently were evacuated by the Germans, have been forced to work near the German front line trenches in Belgium with the result that many have been killed by exploding shells, according to information received by the Belgian government.

The civilian population of these towns was ordered to go to the railroad stations. The women, children and old men were packed into the forward cars of the trains, while all men and boys between 16 and 60 years were placed in the rear cars. When the trains started, the rear cars were uncoupled and the occupants forced to undertake the hazardous work near the front lines.
